BELLE GLADE—The last 32 lots of Sugar Subdivision went on sale at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the City Hall Annex, sending the nine-year old city project to provide lots for low-cost housing into the home stretch.

The city commission acted in a workshop session Monday night to put the last section of the subdivision up for sale at $6,000 a lot when City Manager Robert Sanders said streets, sewers and water for the future homes had been provided.

It marked the beginning of the end for city involvement of a project which began in 1968 when the city acquired the land for the entire subdivision from United States Sugar Corporation in a land swap to meet the need for low-cost housing.

The commission has been trying to sell Sugar West, as it's known to the city, for several years but most of the efforts before this have been to sell the entire parcel of property to one or more developers, who would then sell the

Personnel plan opposed

BELLE GLADE—A plan by City Manager Robert Sanders to create the position of administrative assistant for himself and do away with the city's personnel manager position ran into trouble for the first time in a Monday night workshop.

The plan, which also calls for creating the position of personnel technician and a new secretary, was approved in concept on a 4-1 vote as early as Jan. 5 but real opposition surfaced Monday night, after Sanders had told commissioners who he intended to fill the slots.

Picked to act as Sanders' aide was Mrs. Sharon Bramlett while Sanders said he planned to elevate Miss Rhonda Cox to the position of personnel technician.

Mrs. Bramlett, of 950 US 27 in South Bay, has been employed four years by the city. She has been employed more than a year as the city manager's secretary and Sanders said he believes she is qualified to act as his aide.

Miss Cox has been employed by the city for a year as the secretary of Personnel Director Ron Malmberg.

Sanders said he didn't request the personnel changes until he had been told by Malmberg the Personnel Director intended to leave the city. Malmberg is now employed as the personnel director of Vero Beach. March 31 was his last day with the city. Mayor Ralph Kirk said Monday night he was satisfied Sanders is doing as well as can be expected of him and he is spending more time in the field than any other city manager since he has been on the commission.

"We can't expect him to continue to stay in the field, though," Kirk said, "and keep up with all the work he has in the office, too."

Sanders said he needs an assistant to handle routine research for him and to attend a large number of meetings he has had to neglect in order to keep him informed of events concerning the city. He cited a meeting of the solid waste authority budget committee which he should have attended that same evening.

Commissioner Aubrey Farmer, who opposed the personnel shift when it originally came up in January, was still opposed Monday night, saying he would be willing to discuss it during budget sessions for the coming year but not now.

Commissioner Grear, who indicated on Jan. 5 he was favorable to the shift, said Monday night he was having second thoughts, saying he had worked too hard to create the position of personnel director.

Grear said he was under the impression when the position was created that after the initial

Commission okays Glades juries

BELLE GLADE—Glades residents who are called for jury duty after Oct. 1 will have the pleasant surprise of having to travel to the Palm Beach County Glades Office Building instead of making the 50-mile trip to the county courthouse in West Palm Beach.

The long-sought Glades Jury District became a reality Tuesday when the Palm Beach County Commission voted 4-1 approve the recommendation made by the circuit judges in the 15th Judicial Circuit.

Commissioner Bill Bailey, representing the Glades district, moved the action, saying travel for witnesses and jurors is a hardship for Western county residents who drive as far as 60 miles to the West Palm Beach Courthouse.

Commissioner Peggy Evatt seconded the motion with no comment and Commissioner Dennis Koehler was the sole dissenting vote. Koehler said other sections of the county, north and south coastal, would also seek their own jury districts.

County Bar Association President Ted Babbitt spoke against creation of the new jury district. Among objections was travel time for coastal lawyers and judges but Commissioner Bill Medlen noted there are capable attorneys in the Glades.

Circuit court judges, who recommend the new district, suggested a review of effectiveness after a two-year period.

The action by the county commission Tuesday was the end result of a long trail of efforts made by a variety of people, starting with County Judge Don Adams and Assistant State Attorney Michael Miller's request for the district to the county legislative delegation a year ago.

"I'm delighted with the county commission's actions," Adams said later. "And I was extremely impressed by our commissioner from the Glades (Bailey) and the ques-

Street closed

BELLE GLADE—Because of major street repairs Southwest Avenue C Place will be closed to traffic between Ninth and Tenth Streets from 7 a.m. today until 5 p.m. Friday.

Public Works Director Ron Sigman said the street will be widened from 22 feet to 28 feet along that block to facilitate street parking.

Are newspapers fast becoming obsolete?

According to one phase of a seminar a group of us attended Saturday at Edison Junior College in Fort Myers, they are.

It appears the day of "instant" communications via written words on a television screen are fast approaching. One news agency, Reuters, will this year market such a device (available only to the very wealthy) on stock market quotations.

In England, an electronic "newspaper" is being tested in 100 homes by the British Broadcasting Corporation and other news organizations in America are said to be testing such devices.

This electronic newspaper operates on a single television channel, but in the future other channels may become available for even more news.

If you can picture a toy train on a round track that is constantly going around. What your "at home" viewer can do is select one car from that track each time it goes around and obtain a copy of it in a split second for viewing. The car is never taken off the track, merely copied.

Essentially, this is the way the system works. On any television screen at any one time, there are 6,000,000 "bits" that compose a picture each second. An average character, such as a U, takes ten bits to produce.

This means the screen is capable of producing 600,000 characters per second or an average of 92,000 words. If that little "train" has a three second delay, meaning we will allow ourselves three seconds to gain the freshest news, an average of 3,000 stories are available every three seconds for us to select and read. This means that one channel can produce 9,000 stories every 3-second cycle.

Obviously, there has to be another system for us to know which stories we want to read, so another element comes in, a sort of electronic index.

If we wished to read some international news, we would mash a code button on our television and the most up-to-date headlines of the day would appear. Each headline would carry a code and if we happen to select a story on Zaire, we would mash the code given on the headline.

Then the story we wanted to see would appear on our screen and we could read it. The screen is capable of producing 120 words of readable type at a given time, and if the story was longer than that, we would push a "Page 2" code at the end of the story and read on.

While all this sounds exciting and futuristic, the fact is it is available now, but at a cost most folks can't afford. And, if we're told, it will be available to almost everyone who owns a television at a nominal cost, if governmental hurdles can be cleared.

The principal "bad thought" I can see about a system such as this is that it would tend to make our closed society even more so. Individuals all have their own areas of interests and it could be argued they will select information concerning those areas at the expense of others.

One of the good things about today's news is that it's being presented in that it offers a selection and the reader or listener or viewer is many times confronted with a "surprise element" that he may not be interested in until he reads, sees, or hears it. From there, his interest grows and he becomes broader in his interests.

It is entirely likely the modern newspaper will move rapidly toward this electronic media since newspapers have the tradition and experience in reporting and advertising in print.

The giant markets will be the first affected, but sooner or later even the "mini-markets" such as Belle Glade and Pahokee, will be taken into the fold.

This industry has moved so rapidly in technology during the past few years that if it happens, the one won't be at all surprised.

Federal Spending
Federal spending for welfare, social security and other income transfer programs now account for 35 per cent of total federal outlays. That's up from 20 per cent in 1969. Defense spending has dropped from 44 per cent of the budget to 25 per cent.

Opinion

Laughing all the way

Good news for the Glades came in bunches this week with some of the best being the approval by the county commissioners of a separate jury district for the area west of 20-Mile Bend.

Kudos should go to the commissioners, particularly the Glades' own Bill Bailey, for their insight into the problems presented by Glades residents' necessity in the past to travel to West Palm Beach to serve on juries and as witnesses.

But the decision wasn't made with no objections at all. One of the more noteworthy came when County Bar Association President Ted Babbitt brought up the problem of travel time for coastal lawyers and judges.

Which apparently proves what we've heard for years. It must be a longer trip from West Palm Beach to Belle Glade than from Belle Glade to West Palm Beach.

But as Commissioner Bill Medlen pointed out, there are a number of capable attorneys in the Glades and they probably won't mind at all if the Eastern lawyers turn down cases because they're going before Judge Don Adams.

As a matter of fact, they'll probably laugh all the way to the bank.

Ends and means

Of all the arguments against the use of the death penalty, the one that keeps cropping up again and again is that executions don't deter anyone.

Balderdash!

Who ever heard of someone being tried, convicted and sentenced to death, and had the sentence carried out, and then came back to kill or rape anyone else?

They've certainly been deterred but let's go a bit further. Who knows how many people may have felt like taking an axe to their neighbor's head but didn't because they didn't particularly like the idea of someone else strapping them into a chair and wiring them for sound?

We're not necessarily advocating death penalties for everyone who kills someone but there's been any number of people who've been tried, convicted and sentenced to prison terms for murder who've been released or escaped from prison who've come back and tried it a second time.

And some of those two or more time offenders were considered "rehabilitated", whatever that is.

One thing for sure, when a murderer has been murdered by the state (since that's the term the anti-capital penalty people like to use, we're not squeamish) that murderer will never again threaten society.

And that's the most important function of the law enforcement officers, the judiciary system and the penal system; not rehabilitation, not punishment and not deterrence.

Those are means. Protection of society from those who would perpetrate criminal acts is the desired end.

Empire builders

If all the oil the United States uses in just 34 days, we're advised by the Federal Energy Administration, were put into oil drums, the stack of drums would reach the moon.

And that's just about the time the Environmental Protection Agency would extend its operations to the lunar surface.

CRACKER CRUMBS
BY DEAN JONES

So that was the famous, or infamous, APJ test.

Had a chance to take the controversial Adult Performance Level exam last week, along with a few faculty members from Glades Central who must've been about as curious as I was.

Either that or someone wanted to see if the teachers we have can perform at an adult performance level, whatever that is, and decided to throw the press in to see if we were adults over here.

Well, I've always had doubts about myself even if nobody else did, and there've been a few others expressing their own doubts.

I mean, how many of your more-or-less normal adults go charging out the door when they see a fire truck or a police car go tearing by with sirens wailing and lights flashing?

And how many get to all the high school football games? or have the brass to think anyone else, much less a whole group of people really care what they think?

And all that's the normal run-of-the-mill duty for a newsman and we still ain't talked about wanting to get paid for being noisy.

Most of what I'd call your more reasonable grown-ups have outgrown their kids' dreams of being firemen or a police officer and you gotta have some kind of a lowering eye to think anyone cares what you think about the International Grits Festival in Doctor's Inlet or the annual Jewish-American Cuisine Cook-off in Bare Beach.

Maybe that's why they included a bad schedule on the test, just to see how many high schoolers were adult enough to read the darned thing.

Well, I'll give you a clue, anybody hand me something like that schedule, I'd ask the ticket clerk down at the bus depot how to get from Belle Glade to Kansas City by 12:30 the next day. That's what he's there for.

Anybody who don't work for the bus company would just about have to be a cryptologist to read the schedule anyway. They tell me the last person who perfected a workable bus schedule around these parts was re-committed to Chattahoochee shortly afterward.

At any rate it wasn't all that hard and there ain't a good reason I can think of for anyone to fail it if the sailing level is set at 70 percent. Matter of fact, seems to me like it would be pretty hard for someone who couldn't make at least 70 on the exam probably wouldn't make it all that great on the outside.

Course I reserve the right to retract that if I scored somewhere in the 40's. Come to think of it though, if I passed it and I'm all that smart, why ain't I rich?

Matter of fact, why won't that paycheck stretch from one Friday to the next without snapping or at least getting pulled out of shape?

Maybe I shoulda done what I heard one teacher say he did. Said he stayed in education for the money. Wonder why Life Gear guffawed so hard when she heard that?

Home builders

"All things," an old saying goes, "cometh to him who waiteth provideth he worketh like blazes while he waiteth."

The Belle Glade City Commissioners must have felt something like that last Thursday when they broke ground for the new city hall and not five minutes later saw the first piling being poured.

It's been a long time coming but if Blanton and Unwin move as fast as they have on the fire station going up beside the site of the new city hall, it won't be a long time being built.

And the beautiful part of the whole thing is the price is right. There ain't no such thing as a free lunch but paying for the new city quarters with a federal grant is a darn sight better than using city funds for the whole thing.

And $550,000 is a steal compared to the $1.2 million bid that came in last time...a bid the commission wisely refused at the time.

The city doesn't need the kind of expensive monument proposed three years ago but it does desperately need a new city hall and it's also nice to know the successful plan was designed by a local architect.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The American Heart Association wants to once again thank you for your continued support of our activities in the Belle Glade area, particularly the Glades Heart Ball and our Heart Fund campaign activities.

We are grateful to you for taking such an interest in what we do and for making sure every important event is covered with photographs and articles.

It is nice to know we can depend on you for the publicity we need, and we appreciate your confidence in our organization.

Thank you again.

wood chairs in the middle of McDonald Park, right where the foyer for the building will be, and threatening rainclouds passed overhead with no more than a little bluster.

The speakers, including Kirk, City Manager Robert Sanders and Dan Mica, who represented U.S. Representative Paul Rogers, made the usual comments while photographers took pictures, reporters wrote notes and the construction workers waited to get started.

A piledriver and a concrete mixer were already in place, along with the chairs for the audience and the podium, complete with bunting and a public address system, in front of the large sign proclaiming the largest handed the city by the Department of Housing and Urban Development which will build the new city hall.

Sanders led off the ceremony, as soon as the Rev. G. (Buck) Blair of Community United Methodist Church delivered the invocation, by quipping that "it's nice to move into a community which gives you a new office this quick. I didn't ask for it, but it's nice."

The city manager cited a number of people who have been instrumental in getting the new city hall, including Community Director George Gartner, who put together the application for the $700,000 HUD grant, the commissioners for fighting for the new building for so many years and the architect, Chester Cone, and the construction company for a good design and a good bid.

Mica told the crowd Rogers wasn't able to attend the ceremony but sent his regards and had told Mica he "has a lot of friends in Belle Glade and I want you to make sure they're still friends when you come back."

Sanders said one of the best aspects of the city hall is that Blanton & Unwin came in with a bid of $190,000 under the grant received from the federal government and that money need not be returned, although the city is restricted on how it can be spent.

He said construction is expected to be complete sometime in December, and city personnel should be in their new quarters by Christmas.

The 1,600 square foot city hall will be built in two wings housing office space on either side of a central commission chamber area which will seat 110 people.

Already under construction is the city's new fire station, also located in McDonald Park and facing on Southwest Avenue B. The city hall will face what is now the center of the park, with parking spaces and drives designed as an integral part of what will become the city complex.

The city commission has been discussing the renovation of the city library, also in the park, with the possibility of making what is now the back entrance the front entrance, causing the library to face the interior of the park instead of SR80.

Belle Glade architect, Chester Cone, who designed the city hall, has also drawn preliminary floor plans for a proposed new Chamber of Commerce building to be placed in the corner of the park, facing South Main Street and Southwest Avenue E.

Tentative plans also call for a new police station some time in the future to be added to the complex. There had been some discussion earlier about removing the tennis courts now in McDonald Park but a consensus of opinion was expressed in a workshop Monday night to keep them where they are for the time being and advertise for bids to renovate them.

One of those questions came when Babbitt commented some judges on the coast, "simply don't want to go out there." Bailey asked Babbitt how many jurors and witnesses does it take to equal one judge.

Adams went on to say the entire process of getting the district has proved an excellent example of watching, "how the whole system works."

"We identified the problem," Adams said, "and it wasn't until later that we found it was a problem state-wide."

Adams said he is looking forward to beginning jury trials by the new district in October.

lots or build houses which they would then sell.

Interested buyers will find they must pay a minimum down payment of $600, 10 percent of the total cost, and pay the remainder within 90 days. If the lot isn't paid for within 90 days, the city has the right to claim the deposit for costs and reclaim the property.

In an effort to avoid speculation, buyers are limited to no more than two lots and construction must start within one year from the date the deed is delivered.

If construction hasn't started, the city has an option to buy the property back for the original purchase price. The option lasts for two years.

The commissioners made it plain during Monday's workshop session they would enforce the provisions of the agreement instead of allowing buyers to continue paying for years on the property as has happened in other cases in Sugar Subdivision East.

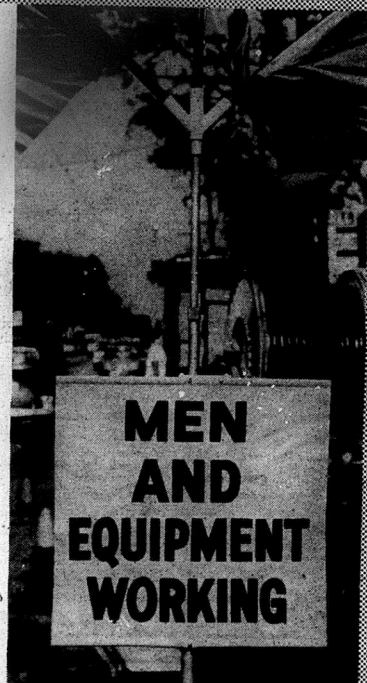

All the lots are zoned R-1 to make sure the only homes to be built are single-family dwellings. They are arranged in two long, narrow horsehoes on the east side of SR 715 across from the construction site for Palm Beach Junior College-Glades. The lots all average 8,250 square feet although they come in different shapes.

Although there was some discussion Monday about whether the city should stick to the 90-day deadline for paying for the lots once a deposit has been paid, the commissioners decided they don't want the city, "to get in the finance business."

Persons interested in buying the lots should contact City Clerk June Boglioli.

South Bay to reset election date

SOUTH BAY—City elections in the future will take place in March instead of September if action taken Tuesday night by the city commissioners is followed through with.

The commissioners directed City Attorney Allen Everard during the regular meeting to draw up an ordinance changing the election day from the first Tuesday in September to sometime in mid-March.

The move came at the suggestion and motion of City Commissioner Vernita Cox, who said, "we're losing a lot of valuable voters because a lot of migrant workers are gone when we hold our election now."

City Clerk Virginia Walker, after the change of dates had been discussed, was directed to talk to Palm Beach County Elections Supervisor Jackie Winchester to find when would be the best time in March to hold the elections.

Mrs. Walker suggested the conference because, she noted, there are a number of other cities in the county which hold their elections about the same time.

Since the city uses county voting machines, Mrs. Walker later said, she would like to check with Mrs. Winchester to make sure the new election date doesn't conflict with too many of those other elections.

The city attorney, when asked by Mrs. Cox, said there would be no problem in changing the election date, that it is one of the things prescribed by the city charter which can be changed by ordinance.

Everard said some things in the charter must be changed by going through a special legislative act in Tallahassee, a second tier of items in the charter can be changed by referendum and a third tier, including the election date, can be changed by ordinance.

In other business, the commission decided to buy a new pension plan for city employees to replace the one the city stopped paying on several months ago.

At the suggestion of City Finance Director A.R. Grigsby, Everard and Leonard J. Gryll Insurance Co., the commissioners decided to freeze the old plan and approve the new one.

The new plan, called a "money purchase" plan has no age requirements, can pay an employee for as few as 11 years of payments and includes no life insurance. Grigsby said he was convinced, after a series of meetings between himself, Irby and Everard, this is the best plan for the city because there is no danger of the city being put in a financial bind several years in the future as there is with the existing plan.

Under the new pension plan, the city will match up to five percent of the employee's gross income, although the employee can contribute as much as he wishes. Under the existing plan, the city pays the entire amount.

Irby said a 30-year old person could go to work for the city at a salary of $7,200 a year, could stop participating in the plan at the age of 41, could still have an income of $31,000 a month at the age of 60.

Should an employee resign from the city after ten years under the plan, he can transfer the entire amount of his fund to another retirement plan elsewhere without paying taxes on any of it.

Mrs. Cox made the motion to adopt the plan with the provision arrangements would be made for Fred Jones, the city's oldest employee, in term of years employed. Jones would have been the city may not be able to afford at some time down the line.

Waste

Hunt pointed out that the interlocal agreement calls for the committee to set rates and it would take at least five of the seven members of the Authority to overturn a committee recommendation.

He said the agreement was drawn up this way to provide the committee with a weighted amount of authority while still giving the Authority final control.

He and Dr. Richard Ormon recalled that when the three cities of Pahokee, Belle Glade and South Bay decided to go ahead with the plans in an agreement with the Authority and the county, they agreed the Authority was the one which should be the "lead agency."

In response to a directive given him at the last committee meeting, Hunt recommended, along with Barker, Osha and Anderson, the consulting engineers to the solid waste plan, that Pahokee continue using its incinerator at least for the time being.

The directive was given in the first meeting when Committee Member J. Ray Hutton, representing Pahokee, said Pahokee's involvement in the plan would depend on the benefits which would accrue to the town.

Hunt's recommendation was one of five alternatives explored in a report he made to the committee. It was made because there is an indebtedness involved in the Pahokee incinerator (it being financed through a federal grant) and the unknown hauling cost to the proposed Authority facility in Belle Glade.

Hutton said he believed the city may be able to haul its garbage cheaply enough to make it worthwhile to incorporate the city's incinerator in the overall facility but Hunt said he simply doesn't have enough detailed information to say whether it would be worthwhile or not.

Hunt pointed out there are a number of firms and cities in the West Palm Beach area which haul garbage more than the 20 miles Pahokee would have to make but he said he was a member of costs, including labor, fuel, unproductive time for the trucks involved and other expenses which he has no information on.

Other alternatives explored were a continued operation of the incinerator with an expanded service area which would run from the Martin County line to a line running east of the Palm Beach County Airport just south of the city; to discontinue operation and relocate it to the regional facility or another site; to discontinue operation and sell the unit or to expand the operation at the Pahokee location.

Hunt said he has been assured by the manufacturer the unit could be broken down and relocated in about three days' time. He said he also found out the resale price of the unit wouldn't be enough to justify selling it.

The recommendation also calls for a study of the personnel work was done, the director would act as an assistant to the city manager.

"Mr. Malmberg was never used that way," Sanders said, adding he feels personnel records have been placed in such a position the city no longer needs someone in the slot. He said he feels Miss Cox is easily capable of handling the new job of personnel technician.

Sanders also said the entire personnel package change can be accomplished at a savings to the city and Kirk and Commissioner Tom Altman said they see no reason not to make the change now if it isn't a matter of more cost to the city.

Farmer, still opposing the plan, said he is against creating the new secretary's job because any time a new position is created, it is difficult to abolish.

While no decision was made Monday, the matter is expected to come before the commission again during the regular meeting next Monday night, when it should pass unless one of the commissioners changes his mind.

At the end of the discussion, Kirk, Altman and Commissioner Kenneth Harris said they favor the personnel change. Harris said he wasn't sure and Farmer was still opposed to the change.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long preserve and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Raiders place third, sixth

BELLE GLADE—Members of the Glades Central Track team placed third out of nine teams last Tuesday at the Atlantic Invitational Track Meet and sixth of a field of 12 teams Friday at the Boca News Invitational Track Meet.

Although they failed to win a first place in the Atlantic meet, the Glades Central track team picked up second place positions in six events to compile a total score of 63.

In the shot put, Kenneth Fitzpatrick came in second with a heave of 48'7" while Frank Freeman was third with a throw of 45 feet. Fitzpatrick also picked up a fourth place win in discus competition with a throw of 135'8".

Ollie Sheppard won another second place in the long jump with a leap of 20'3" while Craig Knowles won fourth place with 20'2" and Cephas Knowles won fifth with 19'9".

Two more second place slots were earned by Bobby Brereton in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:03 and the two mile run by Steve Wilson in 10:20.3.

The last two events the Raiders scored second place in were the 880 yard relay in 1:32 and the mile relay in 3:30.5.

Allen Johnson won a third place by running the 440 yard dash in 51.6 and Mickey Bradley won a fourth in the 380 yard intermediate

Girls rate fifth place

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central Girls track team placed fifth in a field of 29 teams Saturday in the St. Aquinas Invitational and came within half a second of breaking the meet record in the 880 relay.

The relay team, made up of Kathleen Ford, Judy White, Linda Baldwin and Rosa Wilkerson, broke the school record by three seconds when they ran the course in 1:50.7.

Miss Wilkerson also set two other school records when she threw the discus 108' 5/4" and ran the 440 yard dash in 59.2 seconds.

The caliber of the competition was evident, however, in that she only managed to place fourth and third in the two events.

Kathleen Ford also placed in two other events, coming in second in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the shot put.

The 440 relay team, made up of Linda Baldwin, Judy White, Terry Osborne and Miss Ford, placed fourth.

ate hurdles in 42.1. Steve Wilson also won a sixth place in the mile run in a time of 4:38.

The Raiders did take a first place in the long jump at the Boca meet Friday when Ollie Sheppard leaped 22'2". Sheppard was followed in the jump by Craig Knowles, who took fifth place with 21'2 1/4" and Eli Martin in sixth place with a 21'1 1/4" effort.

The 880 yard relay and mile relay teams each picked up a fourth place spot. The 880 team of David Robinson, Cephas Knowles, Kenneth Henderson and Eli Martin finished in 1:34 and the mile team, made up of Mickey Bradley, William Johnson, Joe Byrd and Allen Johnson, finished with a time of 3:31.2.

Kenneth Fitzpatrick finished fifth in the shot put with a heave of 48'3 1/4" and Eli Martin ran the 100 yard dash in 10.2 seconds to take fifth place.

Mickey Bradley won a fifth in the 330 yard intermediate hurdles with a time of 42.1 and another fifth place was won by the sprint medley relay team of Anthony Adderly, Kenneth Henderson, Joe Byrd and Don Andrews in 2:07.

Eli Martin won sixth place in the 220 yard dash in 23.1 seconds and Steve Wilson placed sixth in the two mile run in 10:13.

SIPPO THE CLOWN PRINCE, or Preston Pierce as he's better known to his Salvation Army fellow employees in West Palm Beach, was unusually quiet Saturday when he sat for Ann Tyler, who captured him on canvas for the benefit of the Community

Fishing is improved

By Nan Corbin

Bluegill and Shellecracker fishermen in the Belle Glade area had a fantastic weekend with many limit catches being reported. Many of these were taken from beds in the pelican Bay area and off the end of Kremer Island using live worms or Beetle Spins.

Cooper Mims, Wade Glover, Gerald Enfinger and Bobby Marshall came down from Midland City, Al. for a weekend of fishing and reported a three day total of 286 Bluegills.

James and Jimmy Hoffman of Panama City came in on Friday with their limits of 100 bluegills and shellecrackers caught on fly-rods.

Belle Glade fishermen Bob Scroggins, Joe Davis, Jack and Jason Shelton used Beetle Spins on Thursday to take 140 Bluegills in 1 1/2 hours fishing. Bob and the Sheltons had already taken their limits earlier in the week.

On Saturday Bob took his mother Mrs. Artie Scroggins, who said she hasn't been fishing in 20 years and has never used spinner bait, and limited out again on Beetle Spins.

David Earl Simmons, James Crawford and Hardwick Dennerd from South Bay used worms on Friday to take 47 bluegills.

Vernon McCoy, Pahokee, used a Weed Wing on Wednesday to bring in eight nice bass. Charles Corbin of Slim's Fish Camp took friends out late Thursday afternoon and reported two nice bass with one going seven pounds.

Jim Wadlington, Lake Worth, used plastic worms on Friday to take a total of eight bass with his largest going nine pounds.

Bobby Soles took his son out on Saturday and Sunday and reported limit catches of bass both days while Mrs. Soles brought in an eight pounder on Saturday.

Kenny McIntosh of Pahokee limited out again on Saturday using plastic worms.

Egg hunt is Friday

BELLE GLADE—What is expected to become the first annual Belle Glade City Easter Egg Hunt will be sponsored at 1 p.m. Friday at McDonald Park by the City Recreation Department.

Recreation Department Head Johnny Rutledge said the hunt is being aimed at the smaller children of the city and everyone in town is invited to come and take part.

Rutledge said a group of volunteers is dyeing the eggs for the hunt. The party will take place in the area of the park not now under construction on the new city hall and the first station of the candy will also be distributed to the children.

"This is the first public event sponsored by the Recreation Department," he said, "but it won't be the last." Rutledge said he is also planning such community-wide events as pet shows, bicycle-hikes, bicycle decorating contests, tennis and volley-ball tournaments and track and field events.

Park plans approved

BELLE GLADE—The city commission gave consensus approval Monday night to a revised plan for developing Lyons Park with an added pair of tennis courts and equipment for a tot lot playground, with the addition of restrooms contingent on requirements of the law.

The restrooms had been a particularly sore point with residents of the area last week when neighbors turned out in force and protested tentative plans for developing the park.

Park neighbors at that time complained that addition of the restrooms would attract undesirable elements to the park, which many claimed should be treated as a neighborhood park rather than as a city-wide park.

According to a motion made at that time by Commissioner Tom Altman, all the added equipment in the park will be on the east side, away from the homes of the residents making the most complaints.

Besides the added tennis courts, there will be 14 off-street parking slots on the east side, tire swings, slide and see saws, a play bench, four spectators' benches and landscaping in the plan.

City Manager Robert Sanders said hopes to pay for the entire project, which he estimates will cost $47,738, with a grant from the Florida Department of Natural Resources.

Hearing to be held for Cable television customers in county

The Palm Beach County Commission will hold a public hearing April 12 before deciding whether to grant a rate increase for Southeast Cablevision, Inc. for customers living in unincorporated areas.

According to a public notice being published in today's Belle Glade Herald by County Commission clerk John B. Dunkle, the proposed rates, which won't affect customers inside Belle Glade and South Bay, would be raised 5 percent as of the date of approval and another 3.5 percent on Jan. 1, 1978.

The hearing will take place at 10 a.m. in the commission chambers at the County Courthouse at 300 North Dixie Highway in West Palm Beach.

According to the proposed rate structure, the current monthly charge of $7.50 for residences would be jumped immediately to $7.87 and to $8.14 after Jan. 1. Additional outlet costs would go from $1.75 to $1.84 and then to $1.90.

The primary outlets in apartment buildings, which are the same as for residential users, would go up the same way. Additional outlets, which now cost $2.25, would go up to $2.36 and again to $2.44.

Commercial establishments and hotels and motels are on the same rate as apartment buildings.

STRAIGHT FROM

Bill Gunter

State Treasurer—Insurance Commissioner

The controversial and emotional question of whether or not to destroy Florida's old Capitol building will come before the Governor and Cabinet this week for our recommendation.

As I see it, each member of the Cabinet has a duty to carefully weigh and evaluate numerous studies and cost estimates as well as the historical and future significance of our decision. At the same time, we must keep in mind the feelings of the citizens of this state who are the real owners of the building.

This will not be easy. To further complicate the question, we have an obligation to reassess the decision which was made when the new Capitol building plans were authorized and adopted. At that time, the Cabinet voted to sweep clean the grounds in front of the magnificent new Capitol building to make room for a park.

Essentially, there are five proposals and cost estimates which we will consider:

1. Demolish the old Capitol building and construct a park and fountain display, $2,894 million.
2. Preserve the original 1845 foundations in a park setting, $2,802 million.
3. Reconstruct original 1845 building also in a park setting with either authentic interior or for maximized office use, 6,573 million.

Faced with these alternatives, I will make my decision by balancing historic considerations, efficiency, and costs.

Easter celebrated

PAHOKEE—Canal Point Elementary School celebrated Easter on March 31 with various activities. Mrs. Judy Fowler's and Mrs. Patty Faith's kindergarten classes assisted by Mrs. Helen Hilson, Mrs. Ella Mae Michens, Mrs. Shirley Wagner, Mrs. Shirley Miller and Mrs. Yvonne Westberry walked to Canal Point Community Park. Children played on the playground equipment, ate picnic lunches, had an Easter Egg Hunt and enjoyed refreshments. They all enjoyed a full day at the park and arrived back at school in time to go home for the Easter Holidays.

The untrained can help

Even if you have had no training in life-saving procedures, don't hesitate to begin immediate resuscitation efforts when someone nearby suffers a heart attack. You could save a life!

The Palm Beach County Medical Society, in urging heart attack witnesses to do the best they can to help, cites reports showing that many heart attack victims have been saved through prompt resuscitation effort by a non-medical person at the time of the attack.

In one study of 631 patients hospitalized after cardiac arrest, 36 percent of those who had been given resuscitation by laymen at the scene survived. Only 8 percent of those left to wait for the ambulance ever live through the attack. The longer the delay in initiation of resuscitation attempt, the greater the death toll. For those bystanders who might hold off from giving aid through fear of becoming involved in legal litigation, the Society points out that a study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association cites research of legal, medical and lay literature which found not a single case of a layman having been held liable for attempting to help.

For those who fear they aren't sufficiently skilled or trained in resuscitation techniques, the medical authorities urge them to go ahead and do the best they can. It may be good enough to save a life.

$3.2 million FHA housing project is set for Pahokee

The extreme housing shortage will be alleviated soon with a $3.2 million housing project being built by the Pahokee Builders Limited on US 441 near Fremd Village.

According to W.H. Acree, Jr., one of four partners of the Pahokee Builders Limited, builders of the project, 170 CBS units will be built. Rental homes and apartments will be available.

Farmer's Home, which is loaning money to the organization, must approve the project, "every step of the way," according to Edward J. Runk of the FHA in West Palm Beach. "We approve the property, we approve the layout of street circulation, we approve specifications, we approve everything," Runk said.

The rural rental project, as it is classified, will provide housing for low to moderate income families. These are rental units not for resale, Runk said. To qualify in the specified income group, the renter must make less than $15,000 a year.

"Construction probably will begin during the last of May or the first of June," Acree said. "We won't know the cost of rent until construction is completed."

To obtain the approval of FHA to build a rural rental project, the builder must have a survey made and present a certificate of need for such housing in the area. Runk said, and the Pahokee Builders Limited has done so.

THE PAHOKEE FIRE DEPARTMENT recently received some new equipment that will give the community improved fire service. Above, Pahokee Fire Chief Cecil Phillips and Assistant Fire Chief Danny Denton show the hook-up procedure of their new foam that will be used to extinguish grease and gas fires. Below, Denton and Phillips display their radiological defense operational set issued by the Palm Beach County Civil Defense

League officers Padgett and Hatton are appointed

PAHOKEE—Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett was appointed Vice President and J.H. Ray Hatton was appointed District 5 Executive Board member of the Palm Beach County Municipal League at a March 30 meeting at Atlantis City Hall in West Palm Beach.

Padgett and Hatton were the only Pahokee residents appointed by the board of directors as officers of the league.

"It is the most powerful organization in Palm Beach County," Padgett said. "We meet with the legislative delegation and have a lobbyist in Tallahassee to represent the league."

The Palm Beach County Municipal League is composed of 87 municipalities which pay annual fees as members. Pahokee has been a member of the league since its inception in 1969.

"The Municipal League has quite a voice. We try to do what is best for the municipalities," Padgett said.

The league meets in West Palm Beach and city officials attend an annual convention where they plan their strategy for the following year, according to Padgett.

Padgett said the league also examines bills passed for the county and keeps up with county commission actions. Several members of the Municipal League are also members of other city and county organizations, such as planning boards.

Padgett replaced Charles Austin, commissioner of the City of Lake Worth, as vice president. Other new officers are: President, Anita G. Yount, Mayor of Glen Ridge; Secretary, Shirley Cohl, town manager of Manalapan and treasurer, Betty Butler, manager of the City of Atlantis.

The executive board is composed of the four duly elected officers plus one representative from each county commission district. Those representatives are: from District one, Robert Harp, manager of Tequesta; District two, George Frost, manager of Palm Beach; District three, Carol A. Roberts, commissioner of the City of West Palm Beach; District four, Aaron Hanson, city councilman of Delray Beach; District five, J. Ray Hatton, councilman of the City of Pahokee. Executive Director is Bill Cruickshank.

Observer found not guilty in Pope lawsuit

Fifteenth Judicial Circuit Court Judge Lewis Kapner, granted a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty in favor of defendant Everglades Observer, et al, in a lawsuit brought by Edward L. Pope, Sr., of Pahokee.

In November of 1975 Pope filed the suit alleging that The Everglades Observer, its former editor and publisher Larry Tucker, S.H. Stalls and Montlake Media, Inc. had caused personal and financial damage to Mr. Pope in a series of articles published in the Everglades Observer during the years 1972-73-74 during which time Mr. Pope was a member of the Pahokee Housing Authority and was an outspoken critic of some actions of former PHA housing director James Vann.

Pope alleged that Mr. Tucker was a close friend of Mr. Vann and that Tucker was involved in a "watergate" episode to cover-up wrong doings by Mr. Vann.

A number of allegations against Mr. Vann were made in the trial; however, no evidence of wrongdoings was substantiated by witnesses subpoenaed by Mr. Pope. Audit reports and investigations by a private firm, state attorney David Bludworth's office and HUD, failed to support the allegations of wrong doings by Vann.

After two and one-half days of testimony, the plaintiff rested its case Wednesday morning and counsel for Montlake Media moved for a directed verdict of not guilty. Following statements for both sides, the motion was granted.

Robert J. Angerer, a member of Ervin, Vann, Jacobs & Odom of Tallahassee represented Mr. Pope in the suit. A similar suit is pending against the Palm Beach Times for their coverage of the same events during that time period. Pope sought damages in excess of three million dollars in each suit.

Sandy Bohrer, representing the law firm of Paul and Thompson of Miami and Attorney Jack Rafter of Clewiston represented the defendants.

Fire Department improves service, gets radiological equipment

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Fire Department will provide a new service to the community and has acquired an addition to its fire truck service that will provide improved fire protection.

The Palm Beach County Civil Defense has issued to the Pahokee Fire Department radiological monitoring equipment that will be used to detect radiological fallout in the areas.

The equipment would be used in the case of a nuclear attack or, more locally, it could detect fallout from accidents. For example, "lots of trucks come through here going to that nuclear plant in Indiantown," Assistant Fire Chief Danny Denton said, "if one of those was to have an accident, we could go to the scene and check for fallout."

The Radiological Defense Operational Set consists of three detectors that resemble Geiger Counters. One is used to check people, clothing, food and the like. The other two are used to check the level of fallout in the air.

"In the case of nuclear attack, the Civil Defense would notify us, then we would check the air here," Fire Chief Phillips said. If there was sufficient fallout, the public would be alerted and taken to emergency shelters.

The firemen will be taking a 40-hour home-study course to acquaint themselves with the use of the system. After completing the course, Denton said, someone from the Civil Defense Office will come out and administer a test to insure correct learning of the materials. "Then we will be Civil Defense monitors," he assumed.

Although the firemen do not yet fully understand the details of the equipment and its usage, "we could use it now," Denton said. When it (the meter) reads .5 or over, that means radiological fallout has started. And when it reaches .5 we contact them (Civil Defense)," Denton said.

The Pahokee Fire Department has another addition to its equipment list too—new five gallon cans of foam and an attachment that allows hook-up to the fire truck. "We'll use this foam to fight gas fires and grease fires," Chief Phillips said.

"When you put water on a gas fire, it doesn't put it out, it just spreads the fire," Phillips said. The foam, however, which combines with water in a ratio determined by the fireman according to the magnitude and type of fire, will extinguish such fires.

"I think this is one of the best inventions they've come out with," the Chief said, "it's quick and efficient."

Besides the new equipment, Denton and Phillips have been operating a marine base radio at the fire station since December that offers emergency service to distressed boats in the area. It has proven to be quite helpful to misguided and broken down boats in expansive Lake Okeechobee.

and Pahokee involvement

Haul cost key to solid waste plan

BELLE GLADE—The cost of hauling garbage from Pahokee to Belle Glade will apparently be the key to the extent of Pahokee's involvement in the solid waste plan designed for the Glades but Belle Glade City Attorney John Baker has some comments on the inter-local agreement too.

Baker prepared the comments in letter form at the request of city commissioner Aubrey Farmer who represents the city on the Budget and Policy Committee and was read at the committee's second meeting Monday night.

Solid Waste Authority Executive Director Tim Hunt said the comments and questions by Baker is the kind of input the committee needs to iron out the wrinkles in the agreement, which was drawn up as a starting point by the Authority attorney.

After reading the letter, Hunt commented on each item, saying the authority will provide a copy of the special act creating the authority, will provide a definition of solid waste and added the committee will set the rates and manner of delivery to the facility when it becomes a reality.

Baker also noted in his letter that all rights accrue to the Solid Waste Authority and not to the city and he doubted whether the city could enter into a 20-year agreement in a situation which the

Seafood House robbed

PAHOKEE—The Seafood House at 1057 Belle Glade Rd., Pahokee, was robbed Monday of $104.

According to Detective Thomas Burrus of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, Glades Substation, Clara Johnson, 41, clerk at the store, said that three black males walked into the Seafood House around noon, one with a pistol and demanded the money.

She told Burrus the men made her get into her car and drive them to six mile bend on St. Rd. 80. After the men got out of the car, Mrs. Johnson drove to the Materials Corp. in Belle Glade where she told the owner's wife she had been robbed.

The unidentified suspects have not been located.

March was slack month for Pahokee building

PAHOKEE—February was a lax month for the issuing of building permits, but March picked up with five permits issued, for construction costs totaling $127,000. None were issued in February.

According to Pahokee Building Inspector, Phelix Slonaker, three $19,000 single family dwellings are being constructed at East Lake Village, a $50,000 home is being built for Alma Farrow at 1548 E. Main St. and a permit for the building of a $20,000 duplex at 185 Banyan Ave. was issued to Wiley 111115.

Two buildings were demolished in March, one a single family dwelling to be replaced by the aforementioned duplex and one a commercial building.

Modifications and additions during the month of March totaled $5,000 for four structures. One certificate of occupancy was issued, that going to Easter Marion of 720 Palm Blvd.

Easter coloring contest ends this Friday

The Herald-Observer Easter Coloring Contest officially comes to an end Friday and children will have until the end of normal business hours to enter the contest.

The contest, which is being held this year for the first time in several years is open to children in two different age groups: Children in school grades one through three and children in grades four through six.

All entries will be picked up Saturday morning for judging and no other entries will be accepted after the deadline.

Judging will be done over the weekend and an announcement of the winners will be made next week. The following week, pictures of the winners along with their sponsoring merchants, will be published.

Children entering the contest have only to take one of the contest posters (published in the Herald-Observer and placed in schools in the Glades) color them, and take them to the business listed under the drawing. There is no limit to the number of drawings children can color.

After being picked up, the drawings will be judged by a professional artist and cash prizes awarded in both age groups. The first place winner will receive a check for $15, second place $10, third place $5.

The list of sponsors for the coloring contest includes the Bank of Pahokee, Carter Electric, Gil-ber's Jewelry, Pahokee Planter, Peddler's Cart, Badcock Furniture, the Haze and Tricia's Collection, Bible Book Store, Daddy Dick's, Glades Drug, Kim and Tim's, Korner, Connell's Hardware, Hollingsworth Shoe Store, Ben Franklin, Young's Everglades Florist, Royal's, Inc., Time Savers, Diana Shop and the Herald and Observer.

Editor of local black newspaper interviews head of Ku Klux Klan

In the little sugarcane town of Clewiston, Florida, a meeting occurred last month that might mark the end of an era.

John Paul Rogers, the Grand Dragon for the United Klans of America, Inc., sat down to an interview with black newspaper editor Alma Henry.

It was Rogers' first interview with any black newspaper editor, although he had been publicly interviewed by black television reporters before.

Rogers is the epitome of a southern businessman, dressed conservatively in suit and tie - appeared comfortable under M. Henry's questioning. Sitting in on the interview were two other newsmen and a black advertising man who happened to be a Muslim.

by Alma Henry
Lakeshore Shield Editor

As a child growing up in the deep south during the '20's, '30's, '40's, '50's and even the '60's, the Ku Klux Klan; the words, its members, its theme...were things that caused a sense of fright among the young and old.

I can remember sitting under an old, shaded tree listening to retired aged men talking of free-spirited white men, who rode in long, ghostly white robes, who amused themselves by frightening Negroes.

I can remember hearing of the whipped and sometimes killed in the dark stories, those gallantly retired age men told.

There were vivid pictures embedded in my mind of unnecessary, senseless killings, brutal burning of man's estate, sexual molestation of the man's wife, daughter, sister and mother.

I can remember hearing of the castration of old men for pleasure; the castration of the wild young buck because he possessed the zest that could turn the head of Miss Jane; the castration of a young boy because he failed to learn that 'nigger' boys never looked directly at Miss Jane.

I remember sitting under that old shade tree hearing stories that brought tears to the eyes, a lump in the throat, a knot in the stomach, and a hate for a white man that would kill him dead on the spot if the inward rage had its way.

To be black was to hate and detest every man that called himself a Ku Klux Klansman.

To be black today, and to think or speak of the Ku Klux Klansmen is a reaction no longer filled with fright for one's life, one's family life, one's property or one's dignity to the right to life.

To think of the Ku Klux Klansmen, curiosity comes to mind—nothing more or less. To relieve some of the curiosity and the old myths I had toward the Ku Klux Klansmen, on March 19 in Clewiston, Mr. John Paul Rogers, head Grand Dragon of Florida of the Ku Klux Klansmen of America allowed me to relieve some of the hostile feelings toward the Klan by allowing me to interview him about the present activities of the United Klansmen of America.

My first impression of Mr. Rogers was one of a very law abiding citizen of the United States, who, like most Americans, belonged to several social organizations, and the Ku Klux Klan was just one of the groups he happened to belong to.

Having finished the interview, my first impression remained somewhat the same. Mr. Rogers is a law abiding citizen; very hospitable, very respectful but only.

ALMA: Since a Black man can't join, can white women become a Klansman?

ROGERS: There's no room for women's lib in the Ku Klux Klan, but she may join the ladies auxiliary. Because as long as I'm Grand Dragon, I'm going to run it my way. I'm old fashioned; I think

"Mr. Rogers is a law abiding citizen; very hospitable, very respectful, but very proud to be a member and Head Grand Dragon of the United Klu Klux Klan of America..."

very proud to be a member and Head Grand Dragon of the United Ku Klux Klansmen of America, who would like old myths put aside and would never want to be confused with the old Ku Klux Klan of the '20's, '30's, '40's and the '50's.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, since the United Ku Klux Klansmen of America are different from yesterday's Klansmen, why don't the United Klansmen of America put on a public relation campaign to tell Blacks that the Klan is different and they have no reason to fear it?

ROGERS: We haven't put on a public relations campaign, but we do go around speaking about what things we are doing, what social issues we are taking, an active part in, especially drug involvement.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, would the Klansmen let Blacks in the organization, since the group is trying to change its image?

ROGERS: We encourage racial pride and integrity, and the Klan's application states 'white males, women ought to run the household. If we had more women home raising the children, we wouldn't have as much juvenile delinquency today.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, can the United Klansmen support political candidates as the old KKK did?

ROGERS: The United Klansmen of America are not allowed to support political candidates. Although the Klansmen during the reconstruction period had picked political candidates for offices quite successfully.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, you have run for several political offices yourself, but have never been successful. Why?

ROGERS: I am a politician who tells the truth no matter what happens, no matter who takes a disliking to it. My opponents bend for some organizations by telling each group what it wants to hear.

You can't please all groups, so why lie during political campaigns? I refuse to try to please all groups. Therefore, I haven't been elected, but I've received large percentages of votes and I've been in a run-off for the county school board seat. ALMA: Mr. Rogers, several weeks ago, the United Klansmen held an unsuccessful march in Tallahassee. You also caused some unrest. Why?

ROGERS: We were simply exercising our constitutional rights in Tallahassee. The news media didn't record who the troublemakers were. Most were Iranians who cause the disturbance. We have been quite successful in Tallahassee before. I'd like to add that this is the first time we've experienced any violence in Tallahassee, but it really wasn't quite as bad as the news media put on. There were only two rocks that hit us.

ARC makes Easter happy

Retarded children given party

BELLE GLADE—Glades area retarded and handicapped preschoolers were treated to a special Easter Party at the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) preschool facility in Belle Glade Friday.

Friends and relatives of the children provided Easter baskets, goodies and plastic eggs for the traditional egg hunt held on the ARC grounds on Northwest Avenue B.

A special treat in the form of an Easter bunny-shaped cake was prepared for the children, whose ages range from six months to five years, by Mrs. Ruby Doney, grandmother of one of the children.

Funds to provide the children with this special treat were raised by a bake sale held by the parents and student donation from Lake Shore School collected by Mrs. Beulah Jones. Members of the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club provided punch and hard boiled eggs for the kids to color.

Chuck Roessing, president of the newly formed Glades Area ARC, noted that a number of the goals set at October by the Advisory Committee have now been met, through the cooperation and generosity of area individuals and groups.

"Stories printed in the news media around Christmas time," Roessing said, "concerning the needs of the children being helped here brought a tremendous response. Jack Cushing of Glades Appliances in Pahokee donated a re-conditioned reverse cycle heat and air-conditioning unit which should be in operation soon."

"Donations from the Pahokee City Council," he went on, "Quaker Oats Co. and its employees and the Citizens Club made it possible for us to fence in a play-yard for the safety of the children."

Roessing said Ed Lively and his men installed a new carpet during the Christmas holidays and Lively himself took care of cleaning it. Members of Xi Zeta Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority paid the cost for the labor of Lively's men.

"In addition," he went on, "the inside of the building has been painted a cheerful yellow. Mrs. Nancy Creech and her sewing club completed curtains for the windows."

Mrs. Betty Evans is heading the pre-school facility, which works with the children in an environment conducive to helping them reach their full potential.

BELLE GLADE—Dr. John Hunt is extremely pleased. "I've taught this class five times and I've never seen so many creative projects," Hunt continued.

The course, Developing Multiple Learning Environments, is the second in a series of courses being taught to area teachers at Lake Shore Middle School in Belle Glade. The first course was Teaching Minority Groups and the third, The Development of Instructional Practice, will begin April 21.

"We're trying to get other teachers involved in the program," said Calvin Darville, Dean at Lake Shore Middle School. Those who are interested in the program may call Mr. Darville at the school, 996-6591, or at home, 996-5375.

The multiple Learning class began March 17 and ended April 1. The teacher earned four hours of graduate level credit and attended six sessions at the school. 40 (Continued on Page 11)

Minding the Store

Jim Gay is given new duties, Connell's Hardware expands

By Andy Campanaro

At Siboney motor center, Segundo Collada has moved on to enter his own business, mostly in West Palm Beach, as office supply salesman and advertising.

Stepping into Senor Collada's shoes at Siboney is Jim Gay, who has been sales manager for about two months now and takes on the role of advertising director.

Jim's no stranger to the Glades, having been born here when it took a boat ride to get him to the doctor in Pahokee.

Asked where he got his beginning in business, Jim said, "I got it shoveling manure for Judge Donnell in Stuart for five cents a wheelbarrow at eight years old."

Jim's mother and father met in the glades and while he was born in West Palm Beach, he says that's because it had the only maternity ward in the area at that time.

"One of dad's brothers lived on Kramer Island and my mother had to catch a boat to take me across the lake to take me to the doctor. That might tell you how far back in the Glades I go," Jim said.

Jim, 53, went to Stuart High and was in the Navy for four and a half years during World War II. He served as an aviation machinist mate in the states and saw overseas action in the last years of the war at Hawaii.

He went to the University of Florida on the GI bill and stayed for some 15 years, working his way up to Sports Publicity Director, the post he held when he left.

A member of Sigma Delta Chi, Jim moved up from assistant editor of the news bureau at UF where he was also a stringer for the Jacksonville Journal to sports director of publicity.

In 1963, he made two decisions—first, to return to the Glades area where he came from, and secondly, to get into sales.

He first worked at Stewart Pontiac, then a mobile home company, then returned to Stuart.

He came here last year and, together with his wife lives in West Palm Beach.

Connell's Hardware is slowly but surely working toward expanding into a full-service general store, according to its youthful manager Mike Marr.

Right now Connell's has added plumbing fixtures and accessories to its stock and is going to resection its whole east side into a clothing section.

To kick the change off, Connell's is featuring a number of clothing specials which will be featured in their advertising, and soon they will be selling children's western wear.

Marr says the store is going to add a new entrance and parking on that east wall in the near future. The Herald is always glad to see a good local business expand. Good luck, Mike.

*****

Well, this old boy has been waiting for a martial art or eastern discipline to hit the area and it was only a matter of time.

A couple of muscular looking gentlemen have set up the Blue Dragon Karate Club behind the Barbeque Hut off Main Street in Pahokee.

Tony Molares from West Palm Beach was working there the other day fixing it up and he says the dojo (that's karate talk for clubhouse) is going to operate as a private club for anyone who wants to pay their dues.

For those who don't know too much about karate, look for this week's editorial "Voice From The Wilderness" on it, per Mike, so turn to page two and you'll find out a bit more.

Guess who the first meal-ordering customer was for the new Steak N Omelette which opened this Tuesday? Of course! Me!

And may I say they're got a good thing going. Right off the bat I had a juicy, delicious western or Denver omelette with toast and hash browns.

They'll be open 24 hours a day and if you take the time to drive down to South Bay from Belle Glade and turn towards Clewiston, you'll see them just past the grower's co-op on the right.

Good luck, fellas, but I really think I ought to get something—at least a free lunch—for being your first customer. (How about a date with your best-looking waitress, all paid by Stickney and the crew?)

TIDBITS

Looks like companies and builders are doing their best to ease up on the tight housing situation here by building on applicably zoned land. There's new housing going up along Avenue E in three places; new apartments next to the Observer Building in Pahokee, and I've got substantial "rumours" of a multi-million housing project on the north side of Pahokee, which I hope to have next week, or week after, or whenever.

Business Personality

BELLE GLADE—George Teyrouz, 51, 324 SW Ave. B, owns and operates the International Market and Submarine Shop. Teyrouz was born in Aleppo, Syria, and came to the United States in 1950.

"I've always wanted to come here," he said. "When I stepped off the boat I couldn't speak a word of English." Teyrouz now speaks flawless English and one has to search pretty hard to find any accent at all.

"I had read a lot about the United States and how it somehow worked really hard here and invested their money, they could have their own business," Teyrouz said. "I've worked all my life for this store and am really happy to be here."

He worked in Miami at a cement block company, making masonry blocks. From there, he delivered goods from National Brand Wholesale Groceries and one of his stops was Belle Glade.

"I liked Belle Glade a lot and wanted to move here from the first," Teyrouz said. "It's a small community, not crowded, and it seems to me everybody is friendly."

So he moved the family here, buying International Market in August 1975 and this is his second season here.

Teyrouz wife, Julia, and his two daughters help him work the sometimes overflowing submarine business. His daughters, Leila and Nora, are respectively, married and going to be married soon. And both, take it from the Herald business reporter are going to be sorely missed by the single males in town, as they are beautiful in only that way a Syrian can be beautiful.

AME Church holds Women's Day program March 27

PAHOKEE—St. James A.M.E. Church of Pahokee held its Annual Women's Day Services on March 27. The services were under the auspices of Mrs. Mildred S. Taylor, Chairman and Mrs. Margaret S. Edwards, Co-Chairman.

The speaker of the morning was a past First Lady of St. James A.M.E. Church, Mrs. Johnnie Mae Thigpen. She is the wife of Rev. Richard Thigpen, present pastor of Paine Chapel of Sarasota. She is a graduate of Morris Brown College of Atlanta, Georgia and Kindergarten teacher of the local schools of Hollywood.

Mrs. Thigpen spoke on the theme, "Women, Respect Yourself." She stressed self-inspection with emphasis on back to basic old-fashioned values in order to get self respect. Music for the morning services was furnished by the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Choir of Belle Glade.

The afternoon speaker was Mrs. Annie Ola Parker of Friendship Baptist Church of Clewiston. She brought a very dynamic, inspiring, and uplifting message on the positive aspects of respect in the vein of uplifting the Lord, thereby uplifting yourself and others, too.

She made the point that if you "Live It," the Christian life with its high respect for values, then you will command the respect of others. She also made a reference to the Scriptures of Paul on the examination of thyself and on keeping your own house (life) in order. The choice of being respectful or disrespectful must be made by the individual.

When this choice presents itself to you, you might recall the words of John Henry Newman:

"God has placed us in a certain station of life, high or low. He has given us a certain power of influencing others.

He has given us a certain circle of persons, larger or smaller, whom our words and our actions affect for good or for evil, and ought to affect for good.

"...we shall have one day to answer for our use of them." This is true of respect, the choices you make are the ones you must answer, for not a single organism on this earth is perfect.

Music for the afternoon was performed by Mrs. Charley Ross and Mrs. Thelma Zeigler.

The Adult Captains were Mrs. Anna Lou Allen, Winning Captain; Mrs. Jeanette Ford, Second Place; Mrs. Claudia Hannah, Third Place; Mrs. Deloise Robertson, Fourth Place. The Junior Captain was Miss Sandra Ann Johnson, who did an excellent job on a short notice.

Mrs. Elsie Thomas was in charge of the Special Effort Events. Mrs. Mildred S. Taylor, Chairman, and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret S. Edwards, Co-Chairman, were emotionally overcome by the success, and by the realization of our goals for this Annual women's Day Program. All Captains and the Special Effort Events Chairman along with the members of the church and visiting friends of the area worked very hard to make this program a success.

In closing, the Pastor, Rev. W.S. Ford, summed up the program by saying, "We, the members of St. James, are privileged to sit and to watch the beautiful actions of the women of our church...So we proudly let your beauty, grace, charm and femininity shine to the glory of God, who has willed it so that there will be women in this area for mothers, for homes, for the church and for the vast expansion of God's Kingdom."

Wendy Owens assigned to Germany

GERMANY—March 24, Army Specialist Four Wendy L. Owens, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ralford, 619 S.W. Sixth St., Belle Glade recently was assigned to the 3rd Infantry Division in Kitzingen, Germany.

A cook in the division's 3rd Materiel Management Center in Kitzingen, Spec. Owens entered the Army in September 1974. She is a 1974 graduate of Glade Central High School.

MRS. MILDRED S. TAYLOR, chairman, left, and Mrs. Margaret S. Edwards, co-chairman, right, worked hard to make the St. James A.M.E. Church of Pahokee's Annual Women's Day Services on March 27, a success.

Ku Klux Klan

you believe on racial superiority? ROGERS: Some governmental tests indicate scores on a genius level that three percent of Blacks achieved genius level, whereas 15 percent of Whites tested received genius levels. I think all individuals are superior to other individuals in some areas. I can do some things better than you and you can do some things better than I. It's the liberals that say Blacks are inferior, not the Klan. If I was a Black man, I would resent being told I couldn't learn unless a White teacher was teaching me. I think Blacks are fed up with white intellectuals telling them they can't achieve education equality without being bussed and taught by Whites.

you become a Ku Klux Klansman? ROGERS: A minister in Lake Wales I respected came to me and asked me to join. At first I refused because I had heard all my life that all the KKK did was kill black people. The deacon said that this wasn't true and that if I wanted to get out once I joined, I could. I took my entrance and have been a member all of my adult life.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, do you think the races will be separated in the afterlife that is promised to those who live as God says to live?

ROGERS: I don't really know what's in store up there, but I believe the Bible preaches segregation, myself. In Genesis, it says each to his own kind...you don't see a bluejay and a crow mating, now do you?

ALMA: So, what's your stand on intermarriage? Do you mean that if my peers are white; that my social friends, working comrades are white, I'm to tell the heart, the emotions, not to become attached because that is a white man?

ROGERS: The Klansmen do not believe in intermarriage. Once you and a white man would marry, a crime would be committed against your children. They would be mulatto and the society would be against them. We have seen the racial violence that has increased in our schools through intermarriage.

ALMA: But isn't that because the child returns home after school to be reminded that he is white, thus he is different from a black child? If the families (adults) would leave the children alone, they would not be so aware of the difference that supposedly exists, but, only of the shades of the skin, which wouldn't really matter to a child.

ROGERS: I don't think the family has that much influence on the child. He spends eight hours at school, time for playing, TV watching in the evening; thus leaving the family less time for influencing, thus having the least influence on the child.

I personally find a lot of school textbooks in Florida promoting interracial marriages and I don't think that is good.

ALMA: Mr. Rogers, what do you think the future holds for the U.S. since Carter's election?

ROGERS: I think the summer of 1977 shall see unrest as it did in the '60's because people are fed up with the system and are now dissatisfied with Carter.

Note: The interview itself was arranged by Andy Campanaro, a newspaper personality who had written several articles on Rogers himself, but saw the need for a black newspaper reporter to interview Rogers, although he had been interviewed by several black TV reporters.

Andy Campanaro, 33, has worked on Florida newspapers for nine years — three years in Rogers' home town of Lake Wales. He has done numerous articles on Rogers and the UKA. He became familiar with the organization when the Klan and other groups protested an adult bookstore on US 27 near Lake Wales. Campanaro had taken an apartment right next to the bookstore and, shortly after a UKA rally a mile up the road, one night experienced a 12-gauge shotgun blast into his living room. "Since that experience," Campanaro said, "I've always somehow believed there was more to the Klan than Rogers' rhetoric."

children enrolled in the program, she and her aides are able to give each child individual attention and to work with them to develop and adjust to their handicaps.

"Our program here is designed to help children at early an age as possible," Roessing said. "Some of them will always have a degree of disability, while others are able, with this early start, to overcome physical problems completely or partially and to enter either regular school or special classes by the first grade.

"Caring is the key word," he said. "Response from throughout the Glades area has shown that people do care about the future of these special youngsters."

"From the members of the Advisory Committee," he said, "and the ARC Board, we publicly would like to thank all of those who have helped so far and to invite those who have not been aware of the need for their support to help us."

Mrs. Sandra Chamblee, member of the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club, is heading a fund raising drive which will begin within the next few months. The pre-school serves retarded and handicapped children from Canal Point to Lake Harbor.

academic hours of instructions. "This is an innovative system," said Dr. Hunt, "it's a new way of delivering instruction. Instead of the teachers going out in the summer to take courses, we come here."

The 17 full-time teachers enrolled in this course were required to develop three projects, Hunt said, something with which the students must "use their hands." The three types of learning stations created were: 1) functional bulletin boards, 2) creative games and 3) autotutorial (AT) systems. AT involves a programmed type of lesson, using a tape and pre-test, post-test learning.

Dr. Hunt is a well-versed educator who was born in China, graduated from high school in England and attended several different universities in the United States. Many of his multi-media ideas and innovations have been published in teaching journals and he has received awards for his innovation in elementary science. He has taught this particular course to teachers in other states, besides Florida.

Teachers completing the course were: from Pahokee Elementary, Jackie Moore, Sarah Spencer, Mary Simmons, Dorothy Gilbert and Robert Hart, Jr., from Belle Glade Elementary; Eddie Clarke and Lola Pettway from Rosenwald Elementary; Billie Jenkins, Verdel Golden and Fredonia Jones from Lake Shore Middle School; Elnor Washington from Pahokee Jr.-Sr. High School; Eddie Rhodes from Gove Elementary; Edith Henderson from Gladeview; Hazel Epps from West Palm Beach; Willie Mae Davis and Hodges Davis Suncor from Poinciana Elementary (Boynton); Carolyn Williams.

Spring arts, crafts festival is Sunday

WEST PALM BEACH—The second annual South Florida Spring

Arts and Crafts Festival will be staged Easter Saturday at the West Palm Beach Auditorium featuring live music entertainment as well as arts and crafts.

The show will run from noon to 10 p.m. at the auditorium with general admission of $1.50, announced Jon Stoll, of Fantasma Productions, "producers of the show."

Booths will display stone and gem work, glass, precious metals, resin art, natural furniture, primitive arts and pottery, exotic plants, macramé, sand art, and other crafts and arts.

As varied as the crafts, will be the live entertainment which is scheduled to be performed during the entire run of the show.

The entertainment, said Stoll, ranges from Kismet belly dancers to circus arts and minstrel singers.

The show was previously held at the Colonnades Beach Hotel on Singer Island but Stoll said the crowds were so large that Fantasma Productions decided to hold the show in the larger auditorium to accommodate more arts and crafts enthusiasts.

Margarita Ramos is honored at the end of her internship at school

BELLE GLADE—A local woman who is winding up her internship as a teacher of business subjects at Glades Central received a surprise Tuesday afternoon when she was presented a trophy by her supervising teacher.

James Allen Jr. said he presented to Miss Margarita Ramos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto

Ramos of 1609 Palm St., "for the outstanding work she did as an intern at the school."

Miss Ramos said she is a senior at Florida Atlantic University and she will graduate in June. Allen said that although she had completed her internship on March 18, she volunteered to remain at the school until the end of the nine-week grading period.

"Miss Ramos' objectives, content and implementation procedures used in the class," Allen said, "showed evidence that in her planning, she had taken into consideration the social and emotional, as well as the academic progress and development of her students."

Pahokee C of C board meeting set

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Chapter of Commerce Board of Directors held their monthly meeting on April 6, President, Arthur Nagler, presiding.

Plans were finalized for this year's Annual Dinner which will take place at the Pahokee Elks Club on the evening of May 6, with Mr. Bill F. District Engineer of the Department of Transportation as the scheduled guest speaker.

All chamber members will receive their tickets for dinner in the mail. Any member who would like to attend the buffet-style dinner is welcomed and may call Chamber Office to make reservations. The Citizen of the Year STAR Student will be honored at the meeting.

The directors voted again to sponsor the annual Fourth of July fireworks display. A chairman for this project will be selected at next board meeting, which will hold on May 2, beginning at 7 p.m.

Kissimmee lock to be closed

Passage through navigation lock at S-65 on the Kissimmee River, where Lake Kissimmee meets the river, will be restricted for the next three months according to officials of the South Florida Water Management District.

The lock will be closed from April 1, until about May 15 to allow repairs on the structure. The structure work has been scheduled to coincide with the Lake Kissimmee drawdown project which has essentially restricted boating activity at the structure location.

The lock itself is located just south of State Road 60 which crosses the Kissimmee River at its mouth.

Cowan makes President's list

Edith B. Cowan, of Pahokee, an education major at Florida Atlantic University, and Ida A. Ledesma, of Belle Glade, a student in the College of Humanities, have been named to the President's Honor Roll for the Winter Quarter. Both students earned perfect 4.0 averages.

Groundbreaking is set for South Bay City Hall

SOUTH BAY—The official groundbreaking ceremonies for the proposed city hall will take place on the construction site at 11 a.m. April 16 according to City Finance Director in charge of personnel A. R. Grigsby.

Grigsby said Congressman Paul Rogers has agreed to speak at the ceremonies, located at the present city park off US 27, three blocks south of Palm Beach Road.

Other officials, including the Palm Beach County Commissioners, have also been invited to take part.

The city commission awarded the bid to build the city hall during a special meeting last week, giving the $415,000 contract to Wayne Blackwell and Co. of Miami.

At the recommendation of Baker, Osha and Anderson Engineers representative Richard Ormon, the commission awarded the basic contract and all but one alternate, that being the $5,000 bid to install a sprinkler system for the lawn.

Ormon explained the deletion will leave the city with $407,000 for actual construction plus a $13,048 or 3.15 per cent, contingency fund.

The money to pay for the city hall comes from a federal Economic Development Administration grant.

The seventh graders traveled to West Palm Beach for the county spelling bee, but did not place in that competition.

Carnegie course is scheduled

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Lions Club will be sponsoring within the next few weeks a Dale Carnegie Course for local executives according to Lions President D. Bill Mathis.

Mathis said the club is sponsoring the 16-week program in the interest of better personal development in the community and added it is designated to help people of all ages improve their ability to express their ideas, improve their knowledge and skill in human relations, develop more enthusiasm and self confidence.

The Dale Carnegie Palm Beach and Hendry County Area Manager, Buddy Folkner, said that more than 2,000 national companies use the training in addition to their own in-house training and many companies use Carnegie training exclusively.

The Lions are sponsoring executive luncheons today and Friday to introduce area business leaders and interested parties to Folkner at the Holiday Inn.

Anyone interested in the course should contact any member of the Lions Club or the Dale Carnegie office in West Palm Beach at 1-737-8440.

Victim is found in automobile

BELLE GLADE—An apparent suicide victim was found in his car at the Riva Canal Park here Sunday, with a pistol lying partially in the hand of his decomposed body.

Sheriff's Office Detective Thomas E. Burrus reported that the body of Cleatis Charles Scott, 50, of Lot 21, Mohr's Trailer Park on SR 715 was found at 1:47 p.m. Sunday.

Burrus said the window on the driver's side of the station wagon was open but when he looked in the right side window, he saw the handgun in Scott's hand.

There was a suitcase and some clothing in the rear seat of the station wagon, Burrus said.

Klanjac is graduated with honors

TEXAS—Airman First Class Gregory M. Klanjac, son of Mrs. Jane W. Smith of 749 S. Main in Belle Glade, has graduated with honors at Sheppard AFB, Texas., from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for air passenger specialists conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Klanjac, now trained to process and schedule passengers for aerial flight, is being assigned to Scott AFB, Ill., for duty with a unit of the Military Airlift Command. Completion of the course enables the airman to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Klanjac is a 1974 graduate of Glades Day High School. His father, Air Force Senior Master Sergeant Edward L. Klanjac, resides at 5-B Ohio St., Satellite Beach.

Miss Black Pahokee announced

PAHOKEE—Miss Selethia Golson was crowned the winner of the first "Miss Black Pahokee" contest which was held Friday, March 25 at the St. James A.M.E. Church. Miss Golson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Macco (Wido) Golson of 747 Eisenhower Drive.

Miss Black Pahokee is 13 years old and an eighth grade student at the Pahokee Jr.-Sr. High School. She attends the Church of God in Christ, in Belle Glade, where she also sings in the choir.

A Virgin, Miss Golson's hobbies include playing the piano and being a member of the "Grooming Club" at Pahokee High School.

Miss Golson has ambitions to be a professional pianist and educator.

Mrs. Esie L. Thomas was the coordinator of the Miss Black Pahokee festivities.

Visiting Nurses set speech at meeting

Mrs. Mary Kight, RN, of the Visiting Nurses Association, will be the guest speaker at the Community Services Council meeting on Wednesday, April 13th, 12:30 p.m., Glades Office Building.

Mrs. Kight will give the history of the VNA, where referrals are derived, how fees are paid, and the list of services. She will also give information as to which areas volunteers may serve the Association.

Invitations are extended to all citizens in the Glades communities, as well as agency personnel and school personnel.

For further information, contact Mrs. Gene R. Cross, Chairman, Community Services Council.

Baptist Church to present cantata

PAHOKEE—The First Baptist Church of Pahokee will be presenting an Easter Cantata entitled "Easter Celebration" by Harold DeCou on Thursday, April 7, at 8:00 p.m. The Cantata will be accompanied by an orchestra in the form of a tape accompaniment.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend the joyous celebration of our Lord Jesus Christ's Resurrection.

This time of year we are getting a number of insect problems and so I thought today that I would discuss some of the more common insect problems affecting our landscapes at this time of year.

One which is causing a great deal of concern is a large, shiny, brownish beetle called a scarab beetle which is quite fond of blossoms on many of our fruit trees as well as our ornamental flowering plants such as roses and hibiscus. These occur each spring, usually from early March through the end of April and cause concern to residents because of the large numbers of them that are found on plants. They are especially fond of citrus blossoms and many people become very concerned that they will lose their crop to this chewing pest.

A lot of people are concerned about spraying for this beetle since the chemical used to control these beetles also injures pollinating insects such as honey bees. Most people find that a citrus tree produces such a large amount of blossoms that the fact that they are eaten by these beetles does not significantly affect the overall amount of fruit that the tree will produce.

cause a find striped appearance to the leaf and if you look on the underside you can make out the very tiny, reddish mites which can occur in large numbers. Since mites feed by sucking the sap from the leaves and flowers, they can cause premature abortion of these and thereby greatly weaken the plants.

Spider mites are a little more difficult to control than most of our other pests and here are some of the chemicals that can be used effectively: Kelthane, Ioxox and Cygon. These chemicals need to be applied more than once to get good, effective control. Mites can go through their complete life cycle from egg to adult in five to seven days under ideal conditions. Therefore, it is important that you treat twice within a one week period to kill any of the eggs that hatch out after your first spraying.

Another sucking pest that is building up very rapidly is aphids or plant lice. These attack succulent new growth and can be found concentrated in groups of hundreds on a tiny section of stem or leaf. These are very small, usually about the size of a pin head, and come in a wide variety of colors with the predominant colors being green or gray.

Aphids are very easy to control with almost any of our insecticides and even if not sprayed, once the tender growth has matured sufficiently, the aphids will no longer feed on it. To effectively control aphids it is important to time your spray program to correspond with the flushes of new growth on the particular plant that is infested.

For all of our insect problems, it is a good idea to spray only when necessary so that you do not waste chemicals or money. Frequent inspection of your landscape plants on a weekly basis will also help to catch these pests in the early stages when they can be controlled much more easily. Remember, it takes more insecticide to kill a larger insect than a smaller insect and the older an insect becomes the more immune or tolerant of chemicals it becomes.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn

Sims-Blackburn wedding announced

PAHOKEE—Miss Lillie Doris Sims of Canal Point became the bride of Charles Dale Blackburn of West Palm Beach in a double ring candlelight ceremony held at the Canal Point United Methodist Church in Canal Point Saturday, March 12 at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Dan Casselberry officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce M. Sims of 208 Highway 441, Canal Point and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Blackburn of El Prado, West Palm Beach.

The program of nuptial music was presented by organist Sharon Coleman and vocal soloist Betty Bacon, who sang "Annie's Song", "Wedding Song", and "O Perfect Love."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore a long sleeve line floor length gown with imprinted roses, trimmed with sequins around the sleeves and collar. The gown also featured a chapel length veil trimmed with roses imprinted in lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow and peach tea roses with two yellow orchids in the center and baby's breath throughout.

Joyce Thompson, sister of the bride, served as Matron of Honor with Janet Alexander and Gay Sims, niece of the bride as bridesmaids. Inga Sims, niece of the bride was flowergirl. All the attendants wore A-line dress with imprinted roses and featured cape sleeves and bows in the back. The Matron of Honor wore peach, while the bridesmaids wore pink and green with the flowergirl wearing yellow. Each attendant carried a single yellow rose.

Joe Feola served as best man. Ushers were Bob Sloan and Angus Sims, Jr., brother of the bride. Russell Sloan was ringbearer.

A reception followed in the church Fellowship Hall. Following a honeymoon trip to Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn are now making their home at 4365 Nagati Dr., Lake Worth.

Mr. Blackburn is employed by Purity Uniform Service and Mrs. Blackburn is employed by Everglades Memorial Hospital.

Thomas-Morris tell of wedding plans

BELLE GLADE—Mr. and Mrs. Burl Thomas of Belle Glade announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Lynn, to Omas Morris, son of Mrs. Essie Griffin and the late W.T. Morris of West Palm Beach.

Miss Thomas is a graduate of Glades Day School, and attended Palm Beach Atlantic College where she earned her Bachelor of Science and minored in Business Administration. She was formerly employed by Harold Grau, Inc. on Worth Ave. in Palm Beach, where she worked in Fashion Retail Merchandising.

Mr. Morris is presently employed as a supervisor with the Florida Power and Light Company in Delray Beach.

The couple will say their wedding vows on April 30.

Almazan-Gonzalez engagement told

Mu Upsilon honors "Girl of the Year"

Davene Bailey was elected Girl of the Year on February 1st, but only Pat Pollitt, Mu Upsilon sponsor, knew it.

Everyone else had to wait until March 19th for the Girl of the Year and Awards Banquet. This year the banquet was held at the Glades Restaurant in Clewiston. Cheese and crunchy snacks were set out for those who wanted to nibble during the cocktail hour. The main course was a man sized prime rib with shoe string potatoes and salad, cherry cheesecake finished the meal and "doggie" bags were provided for several.

Awards were presented to many for jobs well done and to officers for a year of fine service.

Pledge of the Year went to Janet Marr and there were several with perfect attendance.

Everyone got a big laugh when Davene was asked to verify the spelling on the plaque. She didn't realize it was for her until she had it in her hands.

Ledesma on list

PAHOKEE—Edith B. Cowan, of Pahokee, an education major at Florida Atlantic University, and Ida A. Ledesma, of Belle Glade, a student in the College of Humanities, have been named to the President's Honor Roll for the Winter Quarter. Both students earned perfect 4.0 averages.

Mrs. Simonson presents program for Methodist Women

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Chapter of the United Methodist Women met on April 4 in the church parlor with President, Marjorie Hatton, presiding, Helen Davis led the devotional with a prayer and read from Matthew 28: 1-19. Mrs. Davis also read from an article entitled "The Lord is Risen".

5C-HERALD-OBSERVER, Thurs., April 7, 1977

According to one word wit, in the world of fashion, time less is anything that lasts longer than one season.

Bernice Simonson presented the program on "What Can I Do, Lord?" Mrs. Simonson commented that life is an every day thing, if we truly love Jesus we will want to serve him and that the best way for evil to enter and take over is for a good person to do nothing. The program was closed with verses from Psalms 37.

Marie Hendrix gave the treasurer's report. It was moved that a historian be appointed to keep a scrapbook which will consist of news clippings and projects that the United Methodist Women are involved in. It was also moved that every active family in the Methodist Church have a membership role in the church.

Reports were given by Jo Hatton for the nursery committee, Betty Holman for the committee to renovate the church chapel, each circle chairman reported on their last circle meetings. Helen Davis, chair. man for the Christian Personhood, reported that all chairmen have been given the new prayer chain list. The Ester Hundley Circle reported on the Happy Helpers which will meet for the last time at the end of this month. The Happy Helpers enjoyed an Easter Egg Hunt at the home of Carol Arline on April 5th. The meeting was adjourned by Marjorie Hatton and Helen Davis gave the closing prayer. Delicious refreshments were served by the Ester Hundley Circle and enjoyed by all. The next meeting is scheduled for May 2.

Vida Cristiana Latina

Escríbe: Jose Antonio Garcia

Ya tenemos aquí a los días de vientos arremolinados con su polvo rico en polen con el que se fecundan miles de plantas en la primavera; obra maestra del Creador, y con ello la llamada Cuarema en que el mundo mezcla la adoración del dios Momo (El dios del carnaval) a la tradicional "Semana Santa".

Sabía usted por que la "Semana santa" (Easter en ingles) y Passover que es la pascua judia, no caen en la misma fecha cada año? Pues unas veces cae en el mes de Marzo, y otras en Abril, y NUNCA es fecha fija.

ESCÚCHE LA EXPLICACION. Cada año, el 21 de Marzo comienza el equinoccio de la primavera, y la nueva luna mas proxima a esta fecha constituye el día primero del año judío o sea Iro. de Abib o Nizan a los 14 días despues la luna estará llena, y ese día despues de la tarde comienza el día del PASSOVER, que quiere decir la PASCUA que celebraron los israelitas en Egipto, y ese es exactamente el día o aniversario de la salida de los israelitas de su cautiverio en Egipto, y tambien el aniversario de la Muerte de Jesucristo. Por lo tanto, el día que mataron a Jesus había luna llena, el día del exodo, hubo luna llena, y este año del día 3 de abril (Passover o pascua) hay luna llena.

Esta fecha es movable porque no se celebra por el calendario gregoriano (Calendario solar actual) que fue establecido por el papa Gregorio XIII en 1582, pues la muerte de Jesucristo siempre ha sido por el calendario lunar.

Aquí debemos hacer una observacion; por beneficio de nuestros lectores. En numeros anteriores publicamos que el nacimiento de Jesucristo conmemorado todos los años el 25 de Diciembre es falso, de origen pagano y sin prueba biblica. La prueba mas contundente de esto, es precisamente la celebracion de la muerte de Jesus por el calendario de la luna; pues como es posible que un hombre nazca por el calendario gregoriano el 25 de Diciembre que es calendario solar, y el mismo hombre muera por el calendario de la luna que nunca cae en fecha fija. Razonne, piense, investigue, usted y otros miles, se puede decir millones, han sido engañados miserablemente, en cuanto a la fecha de las crismas! Hagale una pregunta a su pastor o ministro al respecto, en busca de la verdad y no admita evasivas o rodeos sobre el asunto, pues todas las cosas relacionadas con la vida de Jesucristo tienen una respuesta solida. Solo lo dogmatico y lo tradicional carece de una respuesta venida de los Evangelios.

El viernes 14 de nizan del año 33, fue el día mas importante en la vida del Mesias, pues ese día murió fiel a su padre Jehova, mostrando que Satanás es un mentiroso, y que Dios si podia poner en la Tierra a un hombre que le fuera fiel hasta la muerte, y que Adán fue el mas mal agradecido de los humanos al no mantener su integridad en el Paraíso, ante la simple prueba de la obediencia que Dios le había puesto, basado en su comer del árbol del conocimiento de lo bueno y de lo malo.

Al quebrantar su integridad y obediencia al gobierno divino fue digno de muerte tanto el como la humanidad que procedería de él (Nosotros la raza humana) Por el contrario, Jesucristo con su obediencia (Lo opuesto de Adán) compro lo perdido, ofreciendo en sacrificio un cuerpo perfecto como el de Adán, con una obediencia inmaculada hasta la muerte.

El día de su muerte, Jesus compro el derecho de usted a la vida. Ahora la pregunta es: Le acepta usted? o entiende usted como es esta compra? Si no lo sabe, en vez de estar de luto en "Semana Santa" pregunte a alguno de los predicadores testigos de Jehova que van por las casas cada semana enseñando GRATIS a las personas que se interesan en los propósitos de Dios. Mientras tanto lea su BIBLIA.

Egg hunts, church services set for Easter in Belle Glade

BELLE GLADE—Egg hunts, special music programs, bunnies and flowers will play a part this weekend when residents of the Glades celebrate the Easter Holy day in a variety of ways.

Several special programs are planned by the local churches, including special workshops, Easter cantatas, a brunch after church and for some kids will be the first Holy Communion Day.

The St. Johns Episcopal Church, 225 N.W. Ave. G the Rev. Robert Politt, pastor will have the Easter services on Easter Sunday at 10 a.m. and later after church a brunch at the Parish Hall. Also an Easter egg hunt is planned.

Members of the First Baptist Church at 17 NW Ave. B, the Rev.

Robert H. Atkins, will have their regular Sunday services in the morning and at 7:30 p.m. they will have an Easter cantata entitled Calvary's Mountain. It will be sung by the adult choir.

St. Peter's Lutheran Church at 601 West Canal St. the Rev. Charles Robinson, will have on Maundy Thursday Communion and on Easter Sunday they will have their regular services.

The Community United Methodist Church at 401 S.W. 1st St. the Rev. Buck Blair and the Rev. Rebecca Radillo, will have their regular Sunday services on Easter Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Chapel and in the Temple and the English services will be held also in the Temple at 8:45 a.m.

The Spanish congregation will travel on Good Friday to West Palm to join the Baptist and Methodist congregation on the coast to have a united service, and the guest speaker will be the Rev. Rebecca Radillo.

St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church at 700 South Main St. Father Paul Saghy, pastor will have besides their regular Sunday Mass a special 10 a.m. Mass for the catechism class second grade students who will take their First Holy Communion, after communion a party will be held served by the catechism teachers and the sisters to celebrate the occasion.

HELLO, DOLLY! What's that in your Hand? would've been a legitimate question Saturday morning at the Arts and Crafts Festival put on for the Community Mental Health Center-Glades Branch. Mrs. Hand was one of a number of people who were startled, then intrigued by the "Jan-U-Wine Fresh Cow Pies" being sold by Bobby and Linda Steele, along with a quantity of cypress knees. There's a technique to making them," Steele confided when Mrs. Hand found the pasture patties were made of concrete instead of the usual method. This was one of a number of booths offering items for sale with a share of the proceeds going to the mental health center.

"New Sounds of Creation" is coming

Pahokee Personal

PAHOKEE—Mrs. John M. Hatch of Pahokee, Maryland, this past Friday to visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Chin-Aleong and visited for the first time her new grandson Darin Christopher Andrew, who was born on February 8. Mrs. Hatch returned home on Sunday evening and commented that it was a short weekend but an enjoyable visit.

PAHOKEE—"The New Sounds of Creation", a young musical group from Lakeland, will be performing at the Canal Point Baptist Church on Saturday, April 16 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a covered dish dinner beginning at 5:30 with the performance following. The group was here last year and were greatly enjoyed by the audience. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Pahokee Chamber sets merchant coffee Tuesday

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce will hold a merchant's coffee on April 12 at 8:00 a.m. in the Chamber office, announced Doug Clark, Vice President of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber members and candidates for the City Council will be invited to openly discuss problems and viewpoints. Anyone interested is welcome to attend. "This will give us an opportunity to meet the candidates and get a better idea of who we would want to vote for," Clark said.

One topic of discussion will be on the high garbage collection rates that businesses are having to pay.

COMPETITION

Let's face it! We Americans love to compete and we love to win. Even as children, we engage in competitive sports with a fierce desire to do better than anyone else.

There is a tremendous satisfaction in knowing that we have excelled in whatever we choose to do. Whether it be in sports, knowledge or the business world, competition is the spur that keeps us always reaching for the highest goal. It is the basis of our free enterprise system. We have found that the best product and the best service for the best price is a sure formula for success.

Competition and free enterprise—a winning combination. We prove it every day by maintaining the highest standard of living in the world today. So let's keep striving to be the best. It's one way to SUPPORT AMERICA!

Our previous heroes embodied in the flag of the United States, to us alive today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to see and for all Americans to cherish. And in the tradition of Washington, Jefferson, and Hamilton, we, too, have a privilege, a right, and a duty. While we may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal—of preserving the greatest democratic society the world has ever known.

The flag is a symbol, not of emotions, but of history; the history of the men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness to die with us will, because daily we experience more of the freedom that we have known.
